Enjoy storytelling, puppets, and interactive talks inspired by excellent children's books. This month's theme is Food: Facts & Fiction.

Books on Gratitude

K-1

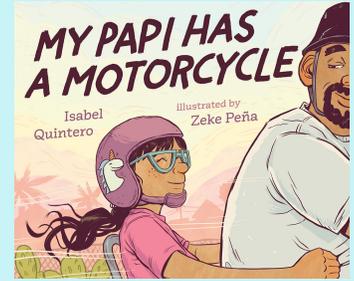

Thank You, Earth
by April Pulley Sayre

A love letter to our planet, with vivid photographs of nature and the soothing rhythm of simple text that invites the reader to think more deeply. For anyone who enjoys the beauty of nature. End notes offer suggestions of how to show thanks to our planet.

Just Ask! Be Different, Be Brave, Be You
by Sonia Sotomayor

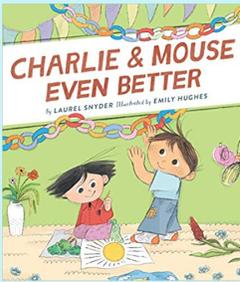

A vibrant and inclusive celebration about those with different abilities. This text offers gentle reminders to believe the best in others, that each of us grows in our own way, and that there are truly many different ways of doing things.

My Papi Has A Motorcycle
by Isabel Quintero

This heartwarming story takes the reader on a joyful trip through Daisy's California neighborhood on the back of her Papi's electric blue motorcycle. Beautiful illustrations underscore the deep connection Daisy feels for both her neighborhood and her beloved Papi.

2-3

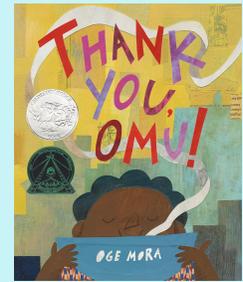

Charlie & Mouse Even Better
by Laurel Snyder

The third book in the Geisel Award-Winning Series is perfect for beginning chapter book readers. Both children and adults will be familiar with the realistic yet funny reactions of Charlie and Mouse to the idea of giving a gift. Told with heart and humor, Snyder once again makes the series 'even better'.

Juana & Lucas: Big Problemas
by Juana Medina

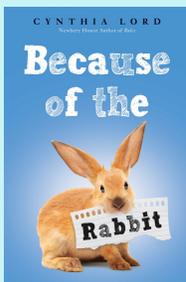

Juana is back in a terrific sequel to Medina's 2017 Pura Belpré Award-winning Juana & Lucas. Readers will respond to Juana's difficulty accepting a change in her family, yet see her gratitude for those changes that also bring sweet surprises!

Thank You, Omu!
by Oge Mora

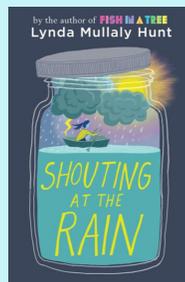

Full of synonyms for the word "scrumptious" this warm and inclusive book teaches us about kindness, generosity, and the benefits of a community. A shared meal becomes a metaphor for love, made fully visible through the vibrancy and depth of the collage art. A delicious read aloud!

4-5

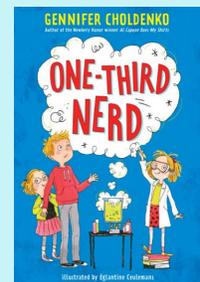

Because of the Rabbit
by Cynthia Lord

A quiet and lovely tale about the human need for connection; be it with a deceased grandparent, a sibling, or even a pet rabbit. After being only home-schooled, Emma tries public school for the first time and learns about friendship and persistence. Her experiences are easily identifiable for all young children.

Shouting at the Rain
by Lynda Mullaly Hunt

Abandoned by her mother when she was young, Delsie hasn't really dwelled on her mother leaving her until someone reminds her of the abandonment. A story about being new, becoming friends, and the support and kindness we can often find in the community of family and neighbors.

One-third Nerd
by Gennifer Choldenko

As the responsible sibling, fifth grader Liam takes charge of his extroverted sisters and worries a lot about everything, especially their suddenly accident-prone dog, Cupcake. Liam's worries are common to young readers in this amusing tribute to family.
